Anthology drama.

Source: This gay illiterate / Louella Parsons.

Broadcast on CBS.

Summary: "The Louella Parsons story, based on incidents in her autobiography The gay illiterate, is a series of flashbacks. Teresa Wright portrays Miss Parson in the drama. As she speaks with the stars the cameras will re-create incidents in her long career. The time span is from the early twenties to 1948. We see Miss Parsons' early days as a newspaper reporter in Chicago. Here she loses her job and departs for New York. In New York she resumes her career, only to be stricken with tuberculosis. When she recovers from her illness, she meets the man who is to become her second husband, and her rise as Hollywood columnist begins. As a climax to tonight's drama, there will be a tribute from the stars of the movie industry"--TV guide.

Jack Benny program (Television program). 1960-11-20, John Wayne, Jaye P. Morgan.

The Jack Benny program. [1960-11-20, John Wayne, Jaye P. Morgan] / a J and M production ; [brought to you by] State Farm Insurance.

United States : [CBS, 1960-11-20]

Cast: [With Jack's special guests, Jaye P. Morgan and Frankie Fontaine. This is Don Wilson]. [John Wayne].

Situation comedy; comedy variety; live show; series.

Episode title from can.

Bracketed names in cast credits transcribed from voice over and supplied by cataloger. CBS network credit supplied because CBS logo appears at end of program. Copy cataloged lacks production credits.

Originally broadcast Sunday evening, November 20, 1960, 9:30 to 10 p.m., on CBS, according to: Can, and The Complete directory to prime time network TV shows, 1946-present / Tim Brooks. 1979.

"The preceding program was pre-recorded." Live from New York; pre-recorded for broadcast on the West Coast.

"60-6"--Adhesive tape on can. "601120-07"--Leader, head (felt pen).

Summary: Jack is in New York, and in his monologue he tells the audience about the press party he gave at the Automat. He introduces Betty Furness and John Wayne in the audience. J.R.C. Scavone [?] (Frank Fontaine) wants to know why Jack didn't introduce him. Don has Jack introduce Howard K. Brawley, the man who gave the State Farm Insurance people the idea for their horn theme. Jaye P. Morgan sings 'Won't you come home, Bill Bailey?' Jack forgot that he made a dinner date with Morgan, and has made another date. John Wayne asks her out instead. They go to a gypsy restaurant where they discover Jack masquerading as a gypsy violinist. (The same sketch was originally done on the program aired November 17, 1957.)

1573.27 | GIGI WINS NINE OSCARS (1:44:20:00 - 1:45:37:00) 13/04/1959

Titles read: "HOLLYWOOD - GIGI WINS 9 OSCARS".

Hollywood, California, United States of America.

General view of the Pantages Theatre on Oscar night. Crowds waiting outside to see the stars arriving wave at the camera. We see film actress Ingrid Bergman arriving at the theatre. Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis and his wife and mother (?) arrive.

Film star wife and husband Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis arrive (what a gorgeous couple). Policeman pushes crowds back. Film star Susan Hayward and her husband (?) arrive as commentator says Susan later won the best actress award (for 'I Want To Live').

Inside the auditorium we see L/S of Irene Dunne and John Wayne on the stage as they present the best actor award to the dashing David Niven (for 'Separate Tables'). M/S of a huge Oscar figure. Back onstage a very glam Rosalind Russell (great outfit topped with glittery turban) presents a special honorary Oscar to Maurice Chevalier for his performance in the film 'Gigi'.

Another gorgeous pair, singer / actor Dean Martin and actress Sophia Loren present the Oscar for best song to Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Lowe for 'Gigi'. Commentator says 'Gigi' won 9 Oscars in all, the highest since 'Gone With The Wind'.

BOYD MAGERS (moderator) is a noted western film author and publisher of WESTERN CLIPPINGS. Boyd has moderated over 150 western celebrity guest star discussion panels. He regularly consults with many western celebrities, helping them acquire material on their careers or films.

LUSTER BAYLESS worked for many years at Western Costume Co., the premier Hollywood costume company. He became John Wayne's personal costumer, working with him on 13 films in all, including True Grit, Chisum, Rio Lobo, The Train Robbers, Cahill U.S. Marshal, and The Shootist.

ED FAULKNER began his TV and film career after service as a jet fighter pilot in the Air Force. Appearing in well over 250 TV shows and nearly 30 films, he co-starred with John Wayne in Chisum, The Green Berets, Hellfighters, McLintock!, Rio Lobo and The Undeclared.

A.C. LYLES has worked for Paramount since he was 10, starting at his local theater. He moved to Hollywood after graduating from high school and worked his way up at the studio, became a producer in 1954 and formed his own production unit in 1956, producing the Rawhide TV series and numerous western films, and becoming good friends with John Wayne.

GREGG PALMER has been a familiar face in TV and the movies for more than a half century. He's appeared in over fifty motion pictures and over 700 TV episodes. Gregg has been in six of John Wayne's films: The Comancheros, The Undeclared, Chisum, Rio Lobo, The Shootist and Big Jake.

DEAN SMITH appeared with John Wayne in many of his films, including Rio Bravo, The Alamo, The Comancheros, How The West Was Won, McLintock!, El Dorado, True Grit, Rio Lobo, and Big Jake. Inducted into the Stuntman's Hall of Fame, Dean was given "The Duke Award" by the John Wayne Cancer Institute in 2006.

SPECIAL APPEARANCE by ETHAN WAYNE, John Wayne's youngest son, who starred with his father in Rio Lobo and Big Jake. Ethan is now the head of Wayne Enterprises, which preserves and protects the name, image and likeness of his father. (Saturday only)

On November 14, 1955, the series digressed from its usual format to present Dateline 2, the second annual variety show produced by NBC in cooperation with the Overseas Press Club. The theme of the program is "Freedom of the Press", and the subject matter ranges from the front page to the editorial column to the comics section. Highlights include a new Irving Berlin song composed for the occasion, "Free"; Robert Frost, poetically discussing "The Right to Know"; John Steinbeck's eulogy of legendary combat photographer Robert Capa, who had been killed on the job the previous year; and a one-act play, based on the Korean War experiences of correspondent Marguerite Higgins. On a lighter note, Janet Blair sings a paean to the funny pages, backed by a "Li'l Abner" ballet choreographed by Tony Charmoli (the Broadway musical version of Al Capp's hillbilly comic strip was still one year in the future). William Holden serves as master of ceremonies, with John Wayne delivering the opening remarks. Originally telecast live, Dateline 2 reportedly still exists in kinescope form, though prints are hard to come by for general audiences. ~ Hal Erickson, All Movie Guide
